APPLICATION

APPLICATION – YOUTUBE PRODUCER DRAGONFRUIT

COVER LETTER

Dear Hiring Team,

I am applying for the YouTube Producer position at Dragonfruit.

Over the last four years I have worked directly alongside YouTube creator RyanNotBrian, helping manage and deliver all aspects of content production across multiple channels and projects. My role extended far beyond traditional project management and covered production planning, operations, technical systems, contributor management, workflow design, community management and content delivery.

I was involved throughout the entire production lifecycle. From initial concepts and project planning through to coordinating contributors, managing production workflows, overseeing technical infrastructure, organising recordings, supporting gameplay capture, reviewing content, providing production feedback and helping ensure projects were delivered successfully.

Depending on the project, I worked independently with the creator or coordinated teams of 15+ contributors including developers, builders, moderators, artists, editors and external contractors. In addition, many projects involved communities of hundreds of active participants and events involving over 2,500 invited players.

A significant part of my role focused on building systems that improved delivery. I created project documentation, onboarding guides, recording guides, workflow procedures, task boards, staff procedures, community processes and operational frameworks designed to keep projects organised, scalable and efficient.

Alongside my primary role, I was contracted by BlackShores Ltd as a Production Manager to support projects for the Surviving Ryan channel, further strengthening my experience managing production processes across multiple creator-led brands.

Across my time working within YouTube production I contributed to approximately 45–50 major projects, helping support audience growth of around 800,000–1,000,000 subscribers and content generating tens of millions of views.

What attracts me most to Dragonfruit is the company's focus on systems, operational excellence and helping creators produce meaningful content at scale. I enjoy building structure around creative projects, solving operational challenges and helping talented people perform at their best.

Thank you for your consideration and I would welcome the opportunity to discuss how my experience could contribute to Dragonfruit.

Kind regards,

Cristian Sorensen
